IL DUCE'S AIDE REFUSES TO SIT WITH ETHIOPIAN

Aloisi Argues League Should Not Permit Delegate to Sessions

SAYS NATION EXTINCT

All Discussion of War Between Two Nations Without Meaning

GENEVA, May 11.—(UP)—Baron Pompeo Aloisi, chief Italian delegate, today quit the League of Nations council table rather than sit with Wolde Mariam, Ethiopian delegate.

Aloisi refused also to discuss the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, on the grounds that such discussion "would be without meaning" in view of the Italian contention that the only sovereign Ethiopian government is that of Italy.

Aloisi expressed the Italian position briefly, saying:

"I have the honor to state that the Italian delegation cannot admit the presence at the council table of the so-called Ethiopian delegation. In effect, no semblance of the Ethiopian state exists. The only sovereign Ethiopian government is that of Italy."

"In consequence, all discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian difference is without meaning. I therefore find myself under obligation not to participate."

Ethiopian Seated

The council, despite Aloisi's bolt, seated the Ethiopian, who is minister to Paris.

"I cannot accept the presence of delegates of the so-called Ethiopian government," Aloisi said as he strode from the room.

Aloisi executed his threat when Mariam was seated in a group of chairs reserved for delegates to the league who are not members of the council.

The Italians acted when it was made clear that Mariam would sit at the council table itself if the Italo-Ethiopian case were brought up for discussion.

As soon as Mariam and his companions sat down, Aloisi won recognition and read a short statement in which he said:

"No semblance of the Ethiopian state exists."

Precinct Workers Ordered to Count National and State Results First

Precinct cases and supplies were distributed by the Board of Elections Saturday afternoon and all is in readiness for the primary election Tuesday.

Workers were instructed by board members to count the vote for national and state offices first, make their reports by telephone, then complete the count on county officers. The instructions were given the board by Secretary of State George S. Myers.

Because of the large number of candidates and the amount of checking that will be required, workers and board members believe county returns would not be completed until Wednesday morning.

New Workers Named precincts, created by the division of two large precincts were announced by Lawrence Johnson, clerk of the board.

They are: First Ward East A; Democrats, Charles Bell, presiding judge, Fulton Cryder, judge, and Jane Sweetman, clerk; Republicans, W. S. Gearhart, and Emmanuel Dresbach, judges, and Mrs. Bess Lilly, clerk.

First Ward East B; Democrats, Lawrence Warner, presiding judge; John F. Mader, judge, and Mrs. Pearl Adkins, clerk; Republicans, H. C. Renick, and Dr. C. C. Watts, judges, Claude Kraft, clerk.

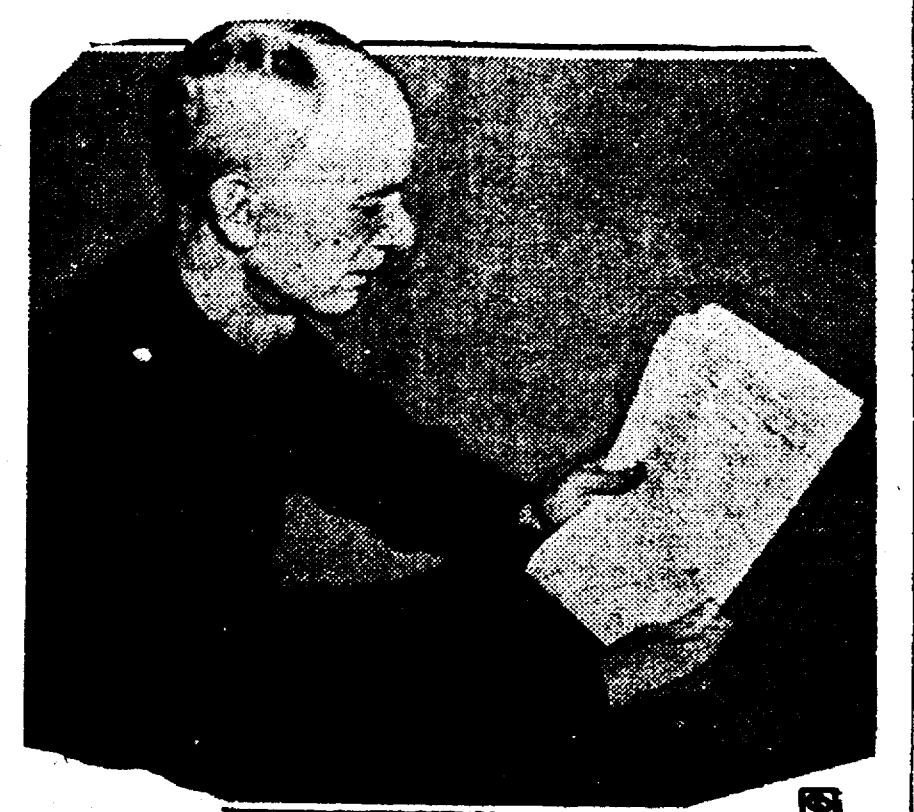

Fourth Ward North East; Democrats, J. A. McLaughlin, presiding judge; Mrs. Daisy Shelby, judge, and Anna Chandler, clerk; Republicans, Mrs. Fannie Kirkpatrick, and Manley Carothers, judges, and Blanche Mavis, clerk.

Fourth Ward North West; Democrats, Frank Kline, Sr., presiding judge, Mrs. Bertha Teegardin, judge, and H. H. Groce, clerk; Republicans, Charles T. Gilmore and Charlotte Owens, judges, and Dwight Steele, clerk.

The balance of the list of election workers remains practically the same as at the last election. The only changes were those caused by deaths or persons moving from the precincts.

Other business before the board meeting Saturday was payment of bills for supplies.

95 Degrees Reached Sunday Afternoon in Circleville

The weather has broken another record.

Sunday afternoon the mercury reached 95 degrees, the highest recording ever made for a May 10 in the history of the Circleville weather bureau. The bureau was established about 40 years ago and Dr. H. R. Clarke, recorder, could find no record to equal the mark. The lowest recording Sunday night was 65 degrees.

Farmers are hoping for a shower to break the extreme heat. They reported the heat has not seriously damaged crops but it is needed to make the ground softer and more workable.

A number of residents have had their first taste of sunburn. About thirty were swimming at Dewey park Sunday afternoon.

VATICAN CITY, May 11.—(UP)—Pope Pius today attack Communism as a "common enemy" that "has already damaged family life."

Addressing Hungarian pilgrims escorted to the vatican by Cardinal Seredi, primate of Hungary, the pontiff said:

"A common enemy threatens everyone and everything today. It has already damaged family life. Churchmen considered the pope's remarks as his strongest recent renunciation of Communistic propaganda."

"By the common enemy we mean communism which is spreading through deceit and imposture," the pontiff said.

"Many are still blind to its snares. Before this immense peril mankind is neglecting to do its duty. All should help defend the cause not only of religion but of human civilization itself."

The pope urged the pilgrims to pray for "better days and liberation from the communistic menace."

REAL MILK FED TO QUADRUPLTS IN NEW JERSEY

PASSAIC, N. J., May 11.—(UP)—The Kaspar quadruplets were taken from a whisky and sugar diet today and fed mothers' milk for the first time.

Physicians decided on the move in an effort to build the strength of Frances, Felix, Frank and Ferdinand, born Saturday to Mrs. Emil Kaspar.

Arrangements to bring the milk here from Boston by airplane and from New York by automobile were made by Mayor Benjamin Turner, who views the quads with considerable civic pride.

The mayor said, and the hospital confirmed, that the condition of the four young Kaspars was "good." It was explained, however, that it was felt that they needed something more substantial than the whisky and sugared water they had received until today.

Mayor Turner turned to Mayor Fiorella La Guardia to ask that New York City supply the milk. La Guardia placed the matter in the hands of Dr. John Luke Rice, city health commissioner. A few minutes later 10 ounces of milk was speeding toward Passaic.

Nearly Million and Half to Visit Polls; Governor's Race Attracts

GOV. DAVEY IS FAVORED

21 in Field for Congress-at-Large; Yoder and Bittinger Meet

COLUMBUS, May 11.—(UP)—Ohio voters, representing an interesting cross section of rural and industrial viewpoint, will cast their primary votes Tuesday to nominate candidates for state and county offices, judicial seats, congressmen, state senators and representatives, and to select state delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

Statistics have estimated 1,360,000 Ohioans will vote in the primary. This number would establish a new record for primary balloting in the state.

Long Terms Factors
The preponderance of names on the ballots is expected by election officials to retard tabulation of the returns after the polls close, Tuesday evening. Many candidates have been attracted to this year's primary because of increased pay for legislators and doubled terms for some county offices.

The most interesting state contest is that between Governor Martin L. Davey, rounding out the second year of a turbulent administration, and Congressman Stephen H. Young of Cleveland, for the Democratic nomination for governor. Charley Hubbell, Cleveland, third candidate in the race, has not campaigned actively.

State Democratic chairman Francis W. Poulson has predicted a "three-to-one victory" for Davey in the primary but Young has campaigned tirelessly in recent weeks, with his main point an advocacy of repeal of the sales tax on necessities.

The youths said they were driving west on Main-st when a truck started to back from the curb. Cobb, riding on the right side, had his arm out the side of the car.

Refuses to Resign

STILL maintaining "I will not resign" Sheriff James O'Reilly of Lucas-co, Ohio (Toledo), who failed to recognize his beer-drinking buddy as the long-hunted Harry Campbell, gangster pal of Alvin Karpis, was sitting tight. He asserted the move was up to the government.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Ray Allen of Toledo, where Campbell was seized by G-men, planned to question department members to see whether any of them knew Campbell during his Toledo stay. Following Campbell's arrest, Sheriff O'Reilly admitted he knew Campbell under another name and frequently drank beer with him in recent months.

SIX SENTENCES AS MURDERERS

NEW YORK, May 11.—(UP)—County Judge Peter J. Brancato in Brooklyn court today sentenced six men to die for a single murder. The mass death sentences were said to be the greatest number ever imposed in this country for one slaying.

Those sentenced to die in the electric chair were Salvatore Scata, 18, Joseph Bologna, 23, Theodore Di Donne, 30, Dominick Zizzo, 22, Eugene Bruno, 20, and Sam Kimmel, 19.

They were convicted of the hold-up murder of Edwin Esposito, a collector for the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit system. Esposito was shot down Sept. 2, 1935, when he resisted the band. They fled with the $250 in collections that Esposito had made.

The six were arrested three days after the murder. Each gave statements involving himself in the crime. The statements were used in their trial, which concluded May 2.

The state said Bologna fired the fatal shot.

FACE TASK VOTES

Against Wall as State Senator Backs Taft as Favorite Son

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—William E. Borah is fighting his back to the wall to win a share of Ohio's delegates to the Republican national convention and the prestige Buckeye back would give him when the G. O. meets in Cleveland June 3. Voters in four states are preparing today to wind up the pre-election primary phase of the national political campaign. Three of the polls are important in the contest between Borah and the leading Republican contender, Gov. M. Landon of Kansas. Primaries will take place tomorrow in Ohio and West Virginia. Borah, apparently safe for Borah, ends May 15. New Jersey ends its primary period on May 19. A primary remains scheduled for Florida, June 2, but it is limited to Democrats and will have no national significance.

Breckinridge in, Too
Ohio offers another opportunity to measure the Democratic bolt in the New Deal. Col. Henry Breckinridge has entered the Democratic primary there against President Roosevelt.

Political observers believe the Ohio, West Virginia and New Jersey Republican primaries will end Landon's candidacy. It is against the field in Ohio that the state Republican organization is fighting.

Robert A. Taft, son of the late president, was put up by Ohio regents as a favorite son candidate. Those pocket the Buckeye delegation would remain until the voters decide which presidential candidate to join.

One Group Against Other
Supporters of Landon, Frankfurter, and a scattering of Ohio delegates who favor the candidacy of Sen. L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, in backing the Taft delegate.

Looking at Ohio from the inside, the Borah movement appears to be more an effort of one Republican group to seize control of the state organization from the Republican group than anything else. Borah's anti old machine rebellion gave the Ohio delegates an opportunity to attack the "ins" and the "outs" are fighting under the Borah banner.

The veteran progressive senator entered a slate of 35 delegate candidates. The Taft slate is offered for each of the 52 seats to Ohio will be entitled at the Republican convention.

all Tales

WILLIAM 'BUGS' McCRAIDY, chief of police, has been many places, but here's one he doesn't tell about, often. He was traveling with a circus when his fellow-workers engaged in a fight. 'Bugs' was not on the grounds at the time but was walking toward the field when he was accosted by a big native carrying a pistol. McCraidy was carrying a banana in each hand and was so surprised that he squeezed the fruit, it flew toward the gunman, and he (the gunman) was so surprised he fled.

Mr. McCraidy slept on a coat-house the remainder of the night awaiting a chance to make a getaway.

HOUSE APPROVES 'MUST' MEASURE

Huge Vote Given Work Relief Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 11—(UP)—The house today cleared its calendar of major adjournment "must" bills by sweeping to quick passage the $2,364,229,712 work relief-deficiency measure. The vote was 214-37.

The bill now goes to the senate where with the $803,000,000 administration tax bill it stands as the principal obstacle to speedy conclusion of the congressional session.

The work relief-deficiency bill, carrying $1,425,000,000 for continuation of WPA administrator Harry L. Hopkins' light WPA work program, was passed by the house without substantial change from the administration's request.

A revolt by representatives seeking to continue the PWA program of PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes was beaten down. The fight may be renewed in the senate where it might delay senate passage of the bill.

Passage today came after the large Democratic majority defeated a Republican move to force states to provide a 25 per cent share of relief grants and for administration of the fund by non-partisan local boards.

VOTERS OF OHIO TO DECIDE MANY PRIMARY ISSUES

Brecker is unopposed for the Republican nomination for governor. He has been saving his campaign ammunition for the race next fall.

Many Other Contests
Other closely-contested state races are those for the Republican nomination for secretary of state, for Democratic choices for auditor and lieutenant governor, and for nominations for the two congressional-at-large places.

Earl Griffith of Mt. Giload and Dale Stump of Columbus have engaged in a stiff battle for the Republican choice for secretary of state. E. J. Hummel of Cincinnati also is a candidate.

Six Democrats seek to oppose State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, who is assured the Republican nomination. The Democratic candidates are Joseph A. Lutz, Dayton; Joseph T. Ferguson, Barberton; George E. Eppley, Cleveland; Jacob C. Nong, Akron; Elmer J. Carey, Kenton, and John H. Turner, Shaker Heights.

Two men who have been in the news frequently during the last year, Senator Paul P. Yoder of Eaton and J. Freer Bittinger of Ashland, speaker of the Ohio house, are after the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

State Treasurer Harry S. Day of Fremont seeks renomination of the Republican ticket. His opponent is Lewis A. Hanford of Cleveland.

There are 11 Republicans and 10 Democrats in the field for the full term congress-at-large nominations. The selection of Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention at Cleveland in June has provided an interesting side-show because of the battle between Senator William E. Borah of Idaho and the Ohio Republican "regulars," backing the favorite son candidacy of Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, son of the late President William Howard Taft.

Vote First Ballot
In reality, the Taft delegates will be uninstructed because they are bound to vote for the favorite son only on the first ballot at the convention.

On the Democratic ticket, selection of the Roosevelt slate of delegates is a mere formality.

President Roosevelt, however, is entered in a presidential preference contest with Col. Henry Breckinridge of New York, former assistant secretary of war and advisor to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Col. Breckinridge entered the race to provide a test of anti-neo deal strength.

Each party will have 52 delegate votes at the national conventions. The Republicans will have eight delegate-at-large and 44 district delegates. The Democrats will have 12 delegates-at-large (four with one vote each and eight with a half vote each) and 44 district delegates.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE READY FOR AIR

Hindenburg May Fight Wind in Take-Off Tonight

LAKEHURST NAVAL AIR STATION, May 11.—(UP)—The dirigible Hindenburg probably will have to fight a 23-mile-an-hour gusty wind when it takes off for Germany tonight.

Skies will be overcast at the start, according to a local weather forecast today.

Despite these unfavorable conditions the record-breaking lighter-than-air craft will depart on schedule shortly before midnight, officials said.

The wind, which might make handling of the Hindenburg difficult on the "undocking," will average 12 miles an hour, according to the forecast.

"Even if conditions were worse than predicted the Hindenburg would sail tonight," one of its officials said.

The official pointed out that once the giant silver craft gets out to sea it will have the benefit of favorable winds.

HARRY WELCH SEERS CONGRESSIONAL TOGA

Harry B. Welch, Rockbridge, today was recounting his efforts in the drive for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Eleventh District.

His campaign has especially appealed to the women voters, because of his firm stand for progress along the line of Civic Welfare work and Schools. His loyalty to Labor and Agriculture may draw a large vote from those bodies.

Welch has confined his campaign argument to a constructive program for the 250,000 people in the district.

His firm allegiance to Governor Martin L. Davey has won thousands of votes for him. He has covered the entire state in behalf of President Roosevelt and Governor Davey even to the extent of sacrificing his own local campaign interests at times.

Cincinnati Enquirer
Says:
CLAYPOOL TO WIN FOR CONGRESS

By HERBERT B. MENGERT
CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, May 10—Nowhere in Ohio is there a contest for congressional nomination as spirited as in the Eleventh District. This is true particularly in the Democratic party where seven men strive for the job.

There are three entries in the Republican preliminary but it appears to be agreed L. P. McConney, Logan, has the call for the chance to stand against the Democrats in November. It is not entirely an alluring prospect.

In this section, Harold K. Claypool, Chillicothe, son of a congressman of a generation ago, is considered out in front in the Democratic race by many of the watchers. Claypool is a brother of Judge Garrett Claypool, for many years county chairman and state central committeeman.

Claypool's hopes are based on very simple arithmetic. He has a good following at home and is heralded by his friends as second man in every other county. In Hocking County, another is to be ahead, in Fairfield another, and in Perry and Pickaway another, but the Claypool supporters say they will wager money Claypool has a strong position behind every local favorite.

THANKS, BOYS AND GIRLS

A MIGHTY fine exhibition, that May Day festival staged by our school children Friday afternoon. While the event was attended by a large crowd of parents it is to be regretted that more citizens were unable to avail themselves of this opportunity to witness a display of real cooperation.

After seeing these children in a group Circleville citizens could not help entertaining new pride and hope for the community. Ours are clean, healthy, active and ambitious boys and girls. We need worry little about the future. It will be in good hands, probably better than the present. So, if we have any worrying that must be done let us do it about affairs that are under our own guidance.

This editorial is to compliment the school children of Circleville; to tell them they are the making of truly good citizens, and to praise their teachers for direction of the boys and girls in a colorful, entertaining and enlightening program.

Nothing is wrong with our children or our educational institutions.

MARKHAM AT EIGHTY-FOUR

WALT WHITMAN, the good gray poet of Camden, and Edwin Markham had somewhat different philosophies of life and there is a wide variation in their standards of poetic artistry. Nevertheless, they have much in common and it is not necessary to draw heavily upon the imagination in order to justify the classification of Markham as a worthy successor to Whitman.

Both sang with enthusiasm of "Men my brothers, men the workers," and both were close, so far as sympathy and affection were concerned, to the men with the hoe, as typifying that huge class that falls far short, in all times and ages, of attaining the best that life has to offer. It is pleasing to his friends the world over to learn that Edwin Markham has reached with strong and graceful stride the age of eighty-four and to know that the muse still stirs him.

"The knife used on an onion," says a household adviser, "will lose its odor if held over a flame." As an added precaution, however, it should then be buried in the back yard at a depth of three feet and forgotten.

That old theory that poets are born still holds good. It's their best excuse.

Where there is a dictator ("I" is the majority and "We" the minority party.

World At A Glance

As a tenant, my interest naturally is to favor governmentally-financed lowrent housing.

Nevertheless there is one argument advanced by proponents of such a program that will not hold water.

Opponents of public housing protest that the government ought not to enter into competition with private landlords. If the pro-housing folk simply contradicted this statement, saying, "The government should, too, go into competition with private landlords," the matter would be one merely of a difference of opinion.

But what the pro-housers contend is that the government would NOT be going into competition with private landlords.

They quote plenty of good authorities to the effect that low-rent housing does not and will not attract private capital. Therefore, for any reason, since private capital will not provide that kind of housing anyway, the government, in providing it, would not be a competitor of private landlords.

THEY WOULD GO

Probably is true that low-rent housing does not attract private capital.

But private landlords are not so stupid that government low-rent living accommodations would attract their tenants, forcing them to reduce their own rentals, to prevent a wholesale exodus from their more expensive quarters into the lower priced governmental ones.

A smallish group of fairly opulent families doubtless would stick to their more luxurious apartments, but most folk would be greatly tempted by lowered rentals. So realtors believe—and it seems likely.

AN EXAMPLE

Washington is a good place to judge by.

Under the influence of war-time and New Deal conditions its population has nearly doubled in recent years.

Building has not kept pace with this growth. There has been a great deal of it but it has been inadequate. Besides, most of it was done at boomera construction costs. To pay interest on these inflated valuations rentals have had to be exorbitant. There have been reductions during the depression, but they still are approximately 30 per cent above pre-war figures, and now again they are rising.

The capital has not a consolidated slum, like the average city. Its very poor live in miserable shacks in alleys, scattered everywhere, often in close contact with very nobby apartment houses.

"EVERYBODY" WOULD MOVE

If passably comfortable, sanitary, well-lighted quarters were offered to middle class families at rational prices, it is a fair assumption that they would move into them in short order, leaving a large share of Washington vacant—unless rentals were cut drastically. And rental cannot be cut drastically without ruining the landlords, who built at fancy prices. At best the vast majority of Washington's landlordism is hanging onto solvency by its eyelids.

Slum rentals are not low, either. In proportion they are much higher than for fancier accommodations.

Governmental low-rent housing unquestionably would cut under them, giving a deal more for less money.

COMPETITION CERTAINLY

Thus a low-rentalized government program would be calculated to clean out the middle class landlord.

And the slum landlord likewise. Even the very tony landlord might be indirectly affected.

Governmentalization may benefit the tenant.

But what is the use in trying to convince the landlord that, with a governmental low-rent system in operation, the public will not be in competition with him?

PRESIDENT'S ADVISERS SPLIT

WASHINGTON—Latest inside on the pending tax bill is that the President's advisers are split into two sternly hostile groups over it.

One group, composed of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Herman Oliphant, his general counsel, is for it. Virtually all the others are not.

Considering that the bill originated with the Administration, this is a unique and difficult situation. Some of the insiders who are on the outs with the bill are even supplying brick-bats with which business is assailing it.

Their motives, however, are different from those of business. What they want is the bill in its original state—before it was gutted by the House Ways and Means Committee.

RESPONSIBLE OLIPHANT

They place responsibility for the gutting at the doorstep of Herman Oliphant. The Ways and Means Committee, they say, adopted his suggestions almost IN TOTO. In fact, he wrote the Committee's report defending it.

Apparently Oliphant overlooked loopholes in the bill which, his critics say, will involve the government in hopeless litigation and prove to be tax leakages up to as much as $300,000,000.

As a substitute, critical insiders are urging the President to junk the present bill, but retain its graduated corporation taxes and a new surtax on undivided dividends.

The Senate Finance Committee probably would jump at this, if the President said the word.

CUBAN DEFAULT

It looks as if the Cuban Government had permanently defaulted on the $40,000,000 loan floated by the Chase National Bank for President Machado.

When registering its outstanding bond issues with the Securities and Exchange Commission recently, Cuba failed to list this issue. At first this was considered an oversight.

But later Cuba filed a summary of ALL its indebtedness. The Chase National Bank again was omitted. Apparently the present government of Cuba does not consider it a debt.

NOTE—The loan was used to construct a highway the length of the island. Machado's son-in-law was employed by the Chase National Bank at the time. This aroused much resentment in Cuba.

The extent to which the massacre of thousands of innocent natives in Ethiopia has swelled Mussolini's vanity is proof that he—as has been widely intimated—always was crazy.

"If these Ethiopian atrocities were stopped," said Baron Aloisi of Italy, in reply to a complaint that Italy was using poison gas against their African opponents, "the war might be conducted on a more humane plane." Well, for that matter, if Ethiopia had surrendered to Italy without resistance, it wouldn't have been necessary to have a war at all.

CHAPTER 43

VAN EVERY at his own suggestion walked to the elevator with me. "Have you seen Mrs. Bryce lately?" I asked, pausing before we reached the lift.

"I'm going to her place for dinner tonight."

"You don't think it possible that she has a key to your house?" No suspicion must enter his mind yet, as to what I knew.

"No, she hasn't. She's a fine woman. Maugham, and I wish you and Keyes hadn't gone to see her that day—she was terribly upset about it."

So she had told him!

"Keyes insisted, I told him he was wrong, but he wouldn't listen. Why don't you marry her?" I felt I could presume on his friendship to ask that.

Van Every's hands played aimlessly with his watch chain. He hesitated before he answered. "I'm too selfish. She is content, and so am I. I can talk to you frankly, although I would not discuss personal matters with anyone else. You understand?"

"Surely," I felt that he was going to say more, so I lingered there beside him while the elevator came and went.

"Mrs. Bryce is a charming woman, but now Joyce is a woman, too. I have never wanted Joyce to know of Mrs. Bryce—for my own reasons. I could not bear to have Joyce think—well, you understand that, too."

"I'm sure that Joyce is modern," I said, "and she would think nothing of your association with Mrs. Bryce. She probably would be very glad you are happy."

"Perhaps, but I am old-fashioned enough to think differently. Joyce worships me. I am all that is good to her."

"Maybe you're right," I hadn't realized that deep down Van Every was narrow minded after all. His affection, his love for his niece was apparent, but his sacrifice seemed useless to me. "Isn't Mrs. Bryce interested in Joyce?"

"Yes, she always asks me about her, and I confide everything in her. I have to confide in someone. I don't know how a girl should be brought up. It was Edith who suggested a person of Miss Randall's type as a companion for Joyce."

"The purpose was heavy," I repeated. After this I told the present arrangements—Joyce in the suite of rooms, her new companion, and my conversation with Van Every about Edith Bryce.

"Any luck about Ward?" Keyes asked.

"Van Every does not know where he is. I'm sure of that. He was very much disturbed that you even connected Ward with the murders."

"Don't worry; I'll have him soon. He can't get away from me. I've his description every place, and the man still has his prison hair cut."

"Gonzales?"

"Oh, yes, I was about to tell you—wait a minute. I had a stenographer take down the questions and answers. Before you read it, let me tell you that my men found Gonzales asleep at the hotel, and when I questioned him he started out being very cocky. I soon took that out of him. He's in jail now, on suspicion, of course."

He handed me a bunch of papers, which I took, while he gave orders over the telephone recalling the detective who had been shadowing Mrs. Bryce, and sending another in his place—two in fact.

"The paper I held in my hand was a long list of questions, Keyes the interrogator, Gonzales the victim. I will give it in its entirety, having since secured a copy from the captain."

Q. Your alibi for Monday night is not satisfactory. Gonzales. You lied to me when you said you were in Washington. You were here in New York City. Why did you lie?

A. I did not lie. I was in Washington—you have only to go there and see.

Q. I told you I had already investigated, and found your alibi false. What have you to say to that?

A. Nothing. I was in Washington.

Q. Roy Barrimore saw you and spoke to you Monday night.

A. Roy Barrimore is dead.

Q. I had a confession from him on his deathbed.

A. He talked, then? What did he say?

Q. It matters not what he said. Were you in New York City or not?

A. I was in Washington. Barrimore must have seen my brother. We look very much alike.

Q. How much money did Margalo Younger give you for the ruby you sold her as the Camden ruby?

A. I know nothing about the Camden ruby.

Q. You saw it the other day in this office.

A. For the first time.

Q. Miss Younger confessed to Roy Barrimore that you sold her the ruby. Is this true?

A. It is not. I had never seen the ruby before.

Public Interested in Medical Discoveries

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF THE important signs of the times is the amount of space which the newspapers give to announcements of new discoveries in medicine. Whenever a scientific meeting convenes, as is happening this week with the American Medical Association, the newspapers all over the country are filled with accounts of new cures and new ideas about cause and prevention of different diseases.

It is inevitable that this should be so. The public is distinctly interested in medical and scientific "headlines". So when the program of a meeting is published, the alert newspaper reporter seeks out the scientist who is reporting, and if he thinks the subject interesting, publishes a resume of his findings and his opinions.

As an illustration of how much times have changed, we may compare the enormous amount of publicity which was lately accorded to the announcement by Dr. Hartmann, of New York, that it was possible to kill the pain in a tooth by local application before drilling was instituted, and the original announcement of surgical anesthesia itself. My friend, Dr. Howard W. Haggard, tells me that we may search through the newspapers of the year 1846 without finding more than one or two obscure accounts of the momentous event of the Massachusetts General hospital, when ether was first administered for surgical purposes. These few announcements were in the form of advertisements to catch the public's eye.

Warning Necessary

Now with our present system of publicity for these things, a word of warning is necessary. The medical men understand it, but the public, generally, think that if an announcement is made about some such thing as neuralgia, or angina pectoris, or infantile paralysis, at a medical meeting, it must be final. They want to get hold of the treatment at proper texture.

You may hear some announcements of treatment for cancer. Remember that the mortality from cancer could be cut in half if everyone would consult his physician about some eruption of the skin or a lump in the breast, and be brave enough to use immediately the four methods which we now know to be effective: surgery, X-ray, radium and diathermy, properly selected for different locations and severities of the disease.

With new treatments it is a good idea to let the volunteer guinea pig, or the other fellow, be the goat for a year or two and see how they work out.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Feeding and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Helen L. Crist Becomes Bride of Hillard Gehres

Dr. Troutman Reads Service Attended by Many Friends

The altar of Trinity Lutheran church was decorated with tall baskets of spring flowers and greenery Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Helen Louise Crist and Mr. Hillard D. Gehres.

Dr. G. J. Troutman read the marriage ceremony at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Crist wore a wedding gown of white organza, ankle length, fashioned with a large roll collar and short puff sleeves. The skirt, styled as a redingote, and cleverly trimmed on either side with pleated ruffles was worn over a white taffeta slip. A large picture hat of white organdie completed her costume.

Preceding the bride to the altar were two attendants, Mrs. Lester Reid, Chillicothe, and Miss Mary Crist, the bride's sister.

Pink organza fashioned the lovely gown worn by Mrs. Reid. She carried an arm bouquet of blue Delphinium and pink roses.

Miss Crist was charming in yellow, and carried Johanna Hill roses.

The dresses were made alike and similar to that worn by the bride with exception of a high neck line.

Mr. Lester Reid, Chillicothe, attended Mr. Gehres as best man, and Charles Walters and Dudley Carpenter were ushers.

A half hour of organ and vocal music preceded the ceremony. The selections "Hearts and Flowers" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," played by Carl Palm formed a musical background for the wedding. Carl Leist, a cousin of the bride, sang "At Dawning," "All for You" and "I Love You Truly."

After the ceremony the immediate families and the attendants were entertained informally at the Pickaway Country club.

Leaving Saturday evening for a trip through the southern states, the bride chose for traveling a becoming costume of dark blue crepe. Unioned with a dotted blouse and jacket to match. Her accessories were in matching shades of navy.

On returning from their wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom will make their home in Knoxville, Tenn.

The former Miss Crist, a daughter of Mrs. Edward Crist, N. Court-st., graduated from Circleville high school and attended Bliss business college. For the last few years she held the position of Society Editor for The Circleville Herald.

Buren Mayor to Aid Burns Thursday Eve

English to Prove There Really is Town in Arkansas; Old Favorite New 'Swing'

Tom English, of Van Buren, Ark., scene of Bob Burns' stories, will be the bazooka-playing comedian's guest Thursday night, May 14, in the Music Hall. "His Honor" of Van Buren is making a special trip from Arkansas to the Pacific Coast to appear on the same program with his city's most renowned son, Bob Burns. Burns will introduce the Mayor to radio listeners on the coast after a few bazooka stumps. "I'm going to Van Buren is on the map," English has written Bob and the Mayor promises his utmost support. He also plans to tell the world all about the forthcoming Arkansas Centennial.

Mayor English directed the homecoming of Bob Burns at Van Buren last December and accorded him the greatest reception. Arkansas mayoralty has ever extended. He styles himself a "typical Southern politician," proud of his city and his state, and says he will be the first to spring into oratorical combat if ever again a man wants to change the name of "Arkansas."

The broadcast with Crosby as singing star and master of ceremonies, and other guest stars to be announced later, will be heard on a WEAF-NBC network at 9 p.m. Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra will play current dance tunes.

When Bob Burns visited his ancestral city in December, the mayor presented him with a giant key to the city, "made by the best whittler in all Arkansas," and on the program in return Bob will present the mayor with a gold key "made by the best chiseler in Hollywood, guaranteed to open anything but the banks."

Burns and English were playmates as boys, when Bob's exhibition was to own a steamboat. English's to "make good in politics."

"I didn't get my steamboat, but I got my bazooka," says Bob, "and it makes purty near the same kind of a noise when I want it to as the old whistle did on the steamboats on the river. All I got to do is close my eyes and blow and I can imagine myself floatin' down stream just like I used to when I was a kid. Tom, of course, kept his promise. He's a real whizzer, and that's something. Course, I'm goin' to take him under my wing when he gets here, and while I can't turn out the town for him, I'm goin' to give him a celebration he'll remember."

A brand new tune not yet published and three of the big hits of the past will be played in contrasting swing treatments by Benny Goodman's orchestra in the revue broadcast with Eddie Dowling and Ray Dooley on Tuesday, May 12. The new number is "House Top" by Earl Hines and James Mundy and the oldtimers are "Yes We Have No Bananas," "Marge" and "Poor Butterfly."

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Samuel Goldwyn's new production, "These Three," which brought Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Cliftona theatre last night, proved the most powerful and gripping drama to reach the screen in many a cinema season.

Offering all three stars the acting opportunities of their lives, brilliantly concocted by Lillian Hellman, famous Broadway playwright, magnificently produced, and expertly directed by William Wyler, "These Three" held last night's audience breathless from the opening shot to the final fade-out.

It boasts something new to film fans in dramatic situations, knit together with a skill that results in smart-paced, smooth and unforgettable entertainment. And Bonita Granville, the 12-year-old, who plays the spiteful schoolgirl whose vicious lie motivates the story, is one of the great acting discoveries of motion picture history.

The story, briefly, depicts how the ugly lie invented by an unruly student in a private girls' school, involving her two teachers, Miriam and Merle, and the latter's doctor fiancé, Joel McCrea, brought disaster into their lives. Due to the resultant scandal, the school is lost, the romance broken and almost unbearable suffering and humiliation is visited upon these three innocent people, before the lie is brought to light.

The War Department now has a plan of defense against all dangers except fool war talk.

WELCH CLOSES CAMPAIGN FOR CONGRESS

In the closing hours of the Campaign for Congressman in this the 11th district the voters are impressed by the gentlemanly way in which HARRY B. WELCH has conducted his campaign in his appeal for the nomination for Congress.

They readily realize that he does possess the qualifications requisite for the representation of 250,000 people in the National House of Representatives.

Mr. Welch is qualified, having handled law together with his experience in law making while a member of the Ohio State Legislature and it is agreed that experience does count in Congress. While in the Ohio Legislature he supported such important constructive legislation as Schools, Old Age Pension, labor, agriculture and soldier's and served on some of the outstanding committees.

To the Mother's and Father's of our district and nation he promises to work, vote and do everything in his power to keep our country out of war and all foreign entanglements and to restore our country to prosperity in providing employment to the unemployed of our Nation.

In representing this district Mr. Welch expects to represent the entire district with equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Send Harry Welch to Congress with the assurance that we have a man of honesty and stability on whom we can rely for real representation.

TO THE VOTERS OF PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO:

Reports have been circulated that in the event of the nomination and election of a certain candidate I will be retained as a deputy. These reports are without any foundation, as I intend to retire from the office, having made future contacts in business. I am,

Yours respectfully,

To The Public:

Just a last minute thanks to you for your courtesy as my efforts to become better acquainted with you, before the election Tuesday, when you will have opportunity to choose one of we three candidates as your County Engineer for the next four years.

My advertising was by means of a Pickaway County map, upon which I tried to place what I thought would be most useful to you. It is my own—I made it in order to bring you a part of my work.

In engineering work here in the city, I planned and had charge of construction of the pavement on East Main Street, from Mingo to the Corporation Line toward Lancaster, also West Main Street, from the railroad to the Scioto River. I had charge of the construction of South Court Street from the railroad tracks south to the Corporation line, a job built about 1930, and which is holding up in good shape.

There are the usual pre-election rumors, as always, but I have tried to conduct a clean fight and wish to compliment my fellow candidates in their treatment of our campaign—I do not feel in the least we have been unfair to each other, and I know the public will use their best judgment.

I hope I have made a favorable impression upon you, with my work, my words and myself, for after all, that is what I have to give you if I am nominated. I hope you will all use your right to express your desires by voting, and may the best man win.

Sincerely

For the body take a banana and cut it in half lengthwise, and then quarter it. One banana will make eight bodies.

For wings cut a slice of pineapple in half; this will make two wings. A marzipan cherry serves as the head. Cut small strips of pimento for feelers. Use as a dressing your favorite fruit salad dressing. Put two or three spots of dressing on each wing, these spots may be tinted with fruit coloring. Serve on a lettuce leaf.
